Anton is a playground product for small children. It consists of steps to a low (570 mm high) platform and a slide. By the side of the platform there is a small tabletop for playing on. One face of the tabletop has a car-racing track and the other a play stove. The visible face must be chosen on installation, but the tabletop can easily be flipped over at a later stage. The tabletop is strong enough for an adult to sit on, to assist a toddler on the slide. The littlest ones will be interested in the bright colours, contrasts and fun details, which contribute safely to their motor development.
