Vanadium is a multipurpose piece of playground equipment that will fit in a small space. Besides a 870 mm high slide with steps, it includes a steel ladder, a leaning peg ladder and a curved climbing net placed above the platform. This equipment is also suitable and interesting for older children, thanks to its diverse climbing elements. The different options are challenging for climbers of different levels, developing the children's sense of balance in diverse ways. The unusual and modern look of the equipment allows for new kinds of imaginative play, as compared to more old-fashioned equipment.
